Using the software on Windows 8/10/11

If the software is installed on Windows 8/10/11, you may encounter a message like the following, indicating that you do not have access to the installation folder. This issue typically arises because the user lacks administrator privileges, preventing write access and the creation of necessary files during the software's initial startup.

Follow the procedure below to enable the use of the software. This procedure must be performed with administrator privileges. If necessary, enter the appropriate credentials in the operating system.

1. Navigate to the folder where the software is installed, typically located at "C:\Program Files\Futura Elettronica".
2. Right-click on the "TDG Configurator" folder, then select "Properties".
